

Resilient Voices is Cast’s local group for people who have experienced human trafficking who are now in the Los Angeles area. We do not provide case management, therapy, or support groups. We do offer opportunities for survivors in a stable and safe place in their lives to learn and grow together.

Learn and practice leadership skills, like:

- Computer skills and word processing
- Professional bio and resume writing
- Negotiating pay

Support each other in our growth as leaders.

Build our support networks through:

- Quarterly social activities
- Building friendships through learning together

How do I join Resilient Voices?

Current Cast clients can have their case managers reach out to the survivor leadership program with info, and our Survivor Leadership Program Coordinator (SLPC) will follow up with you.

Former or non-Cast clients can email SLPC Aquilina George directly at aquilina@castla.org.
